“When I drive through the gates at Treasure Lake Resort, I’m home,” says longtime member Arline Chandler. “Great home park!” gushes fellow member Bill McCorkle. They’re both raving about Branson’s Treasure Lake Resort, a gem of a Coast Deluxe facility in the Ozark Mountains.

Not only is Treasure Lake located in one of America’s most popular entertainment destinations, it’s in the heart of Missouri’s Tri-Lakes region, with Lake Taneycomo, Table Rock Lake and Bull Shoals reservoir all an easy drive away.

Within walking distance of many of Branson’s concert halls, the resort is close to shops, restaurants and movie theaters, including a six-story IMAX screen right outside the gates. The folks at Treasure Lake’s front desk can help you find your way around town and may even be able to set you up with discounted tickets.

After exploring the region and seeing the shows, guests can take it easy in the indoor and outdoor pools, stroll on the beautifully maintained paved trail or fish in one of the stocked ponds.

In the lodge, early risers swap sightseeing tips over morning coffee. There, you’ll have access to the library and the ticket office. Across the road in the clubhouse, you’ll find the big-screen media room, the game room and a new fitness room.

When the weather’s warm, there’s usually something taking place at the pavilion. And with so many outdoor activities—Frisbee golf, tennis, softball, basketball, shuffleboard, horseshoes, bocce ball, mini-golf and sand volleyball—it’s easy to drum up a game.

On a practical note, you can give your wash a spin in the resort’s laundry room, stock up on supplies at the general store and grab a quick meal in the Rock and Roll Café.

The resort’s RV sites come with full hookups, and Wi-Fi is available throughout the property. Each of the four phases of the campground is a neighborhood unto itself, with its own community fire pit.

Treasure Lake stands near one of Branson’s busiest junctions, but once you’re inside the gates it’s a peaceful 340-acre retreat with a game refuge right next door and free-roaming deer and turkeys. Round-the-clock security means you can rest up for the next day’s big adventure.
