

GHOST MOUNTAIN RANCH

Features an old west town that was the set of “The Virginian” TV series

Ghost Mountain Ranch, nestled among the tall pines in the Sierra Mountains, is the gateway to South Lake Tahoe. Come and find out why this is the best RV camping near South Lake Tahoe. Originally designed by Paramount Pictures, this resort was once the set of the popular TV series “The Virginian” and perfectly captures the pure essence of old West life.

To add to the old-West life, saddle up your horses because Ghost Mountain Ranch has safe and clean corals on the property as well as miles of trails to explore. Or, if you prefer, practice your tricks or teach your new riders in the Rodeo Arena. The area surrounding the 350-acre campground has dozens of trails and literally hundreds of square miles to explore by horseback. Hiking in the Sierras is a trail hikers dream come true. El Dorado National Forest has hundreds of miles of beautiful hiking trails all located nearby.

Once onsite, you’ll love visiting the vintage Old West ghost town complete with a saloon, ice cream parlor, and general store. Nearby, the spacious campsites and rental cabins are surrounded by tall pines and streams.

What would a camping trip be like without a trip to the stocked fishing pond? Don’t forget to pack your poles, tackle and bait because it’s time for you to reel in the big one. Your kids will love casting in and pulling out one of the many little swimmers stocked in the catch and release pond. Need more water? Swim in the crystal-clear swimming pool with a seasonal snack bar.

Fill your days with activities at the pool, fishing at the pond, or hiking in the woods. Then spend your evening visiting South Lake Tahoe, where you can enjoy skiing, boating, bike trails, blackjack, or ice skating.
