

JA-MAR TRAVEL PARK
PORT RICHEY, FLORIDA

Staff members at this Good Neighbor Park say it's so close to everything, long-term guests don't use a tank of gas in a month

Tell a friend you're headed for Port Richey, Florida, and you're bound to hear a longing sigh. This charming small town, home to Ja-Mar Travel Park, sits on Florida's sun-drenched central Gulf Coast, drawing visitors from all over the continent to enjoy the beautiful blue-green waters and fine weather. Best of all, Ja-Mar Travel Park sits just 1 mile from Hudson Beach.

A participant in Coast to Coast's Good Neighbor Park program, Ja-Mar Travel Park specializes in creating memorable visits for mature adults age 50 and above.

The staff works hard to make sure each guest has a wonderful time. It isn't unusual to choose from 10 different activities in one day. Billiards, potlucks, dances, crafts, cards, live entertainment—there's always something fun going on here, with an abundance of activities to please everyone. There's even Canada Day festivities to salute folks visiting from the Great White North.

Staff members at Ja-Mar Travel Park have a saying: "This park is so close to everything you could want or need, you probably won't even use a tank of gas in a month." Dinner theaters, great dining, all kinds of shopping and even the second largest WalMart in the United States are all close by. Want to check out Walt Disney World, Epcot Center, Sea World and Universal Studios? They're just a couple of hours away.

Ja-Mar Travel Park has been family-owned for 24 years by folks rightfully proud of their property, their friendly staff and the way they take care of their visitors.
