

LAKWOOD VILLAGE RESORT
WAPAKONETA, OHIO

If you haven't tried night fishing, the folks at Lakewood Village Resort will get you started

Wapakoneta may be a mouthful, but once you've mastered it, you may want to repeat it like a mantra. After staying once at Lakewood Village Resort in Wapakoneta, many guests come back, then return again and again.

Located in west-central Ohio, Lakewood Village is the perfect launching point for adventure. Visit the Neil Armstrong Air and Space Museum, the Wright Brothers' home or Dreamland Museum, featuring tributes to Elvis, Johnny Cash and Liberace. In the fall, come for Wapakoneta's Indian Summer Festival and the Maple Lane Farms Apple Harvest Festival.

You can boat or fish on Ohio's largest man-made lake, Grand Lake St. Mary's, just 20 miles away. Closer to home, two small lakes are right on Lakewood Village property. Ask about late-night fishing by lantern: it has resulted in many of Lakewood's record catches.

The resort could easily become a family favorite. Because there are ample opportunities for kids of all ages to play, everyone feels at home. It isn't unusual for multi-generational families to return year after year as the youngsters grow through the seasons of life. Visitors who played their first game of mini-golf at Lakewood now play a few rounds with their own children. Visitors can also enjoy Lakewood's game room, the indoor pool with two spas, a sauna, pedal boats, horseshoes, the snack bar and a basketball court.

The Lakewood staff understands that fellowship happens easily when food is involved, so they provide lots of meal events such as piping-hot home-cooked breakfasts. Yet one more good reason to learn how to say Wapakoneta—and Lakewood Village Resort.
