

MILLSBORO, DELAWARE

Is Delaware on your must-visit list? If not, you might want to add it, particularly in light of Leisure Point Resort's considerable charms.

Leisure Point Resort

Nestled on Rehoboth Bay's Guinea Creek on a portion of the Delaware coast known for its clean, sandy beaches and excellent fishing, crabbing and clamming, Leisure Point Resort typifies coastal living at its best. Easy access to the beaches at Rehoboth and Lewes and a 4-mile boat ride to Dewey Beach make the location just about perfect.

This part of Delaware is steeped in American history, so be sure to stop by the Nanticoke Indian Museum. Nearby Cape Henlopen State Park has a long list of things to entice you including ocean fishing from a pier, swimming, hiking the nature trails and climbing a real World War II observation tower. Rev it up a notch at the Rehoboth Beach boardwalk with its amusement rides, eateries and special events.

Amenities at Leisure Point Resort include the clubhouse, an outdoor swimming pool, a boat ramp, a marina store, a snack bar, a picnic area, playgrounds and an outdoor pavilion. There's even a marina that's accessible by boat from both the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay. Float your boat right on in, and they'll rent you one of the 319 boat slips.

Leisure Point Resort has 38 full-hookup RV sites and a maximum RV length of 35 feet. The season extends from April 15 through November 14. Your RVing journal just wouldn't be complete without an entry about Delaware and Leisure Point Resort.
