

WILDERNESS-PRESIDENTIAL RESORT

SPOTSYLVANIA, VIRGINIA

Discover acres of wooded, tranquil beauty an hour
from Washington, D.C.

Folks are often surprised to discover that Spotsylvania, Virginia, is so charming, rustic and quiet yet so near the nation's seat of power. Wilderness-Presidential Resort is full of wonderful discoveries like that: surprises for visiting history buffs, urban escapees and nature lovers who'll be enthralled by the resort's 600 acres.

This part of the country is an explorer's delight. Washington, D.C. is 65 miles to the north, with enough sightseeing to keep you busy for weeks. Nearer to the resort, you can visit some other Washingtons: George Washington's mother's home, his sister's place and his favorite pub, the Rising Sun Tavern, are all nearby. And yes, he might have slept there. James Monroe's law offices are also just a few minutes' drive away.

Wilderness-Presidential Resort joined the Coast to Coast network 26 years ago, and in that time the wonderfully gracious staff has developed a real affinity for Coast to Coast members. "They're free spirits," says Michelle Ramsey, the resort's assistant general manager. "They're always interesting to talk to and seem to always be happy. Coast to Coast members enjoy what they're doing, and it shows."

Wilderness-Presidential's amenities and activities include indoor and outdoor pools, boat rentals, a marina, mini-golf, a fitness gym, horseshoes, shuffleboard and a recreation hall.

It has that small town feel where you can escape the city's hustle and bustle. Settle into the resort's serene and simple lifestyle, then rev things up again when you're ready to hit D.C., local recreational spots or the history trail.
